

Sonya-Renee Severance

I want to give people a reason to live. People hear Stage Four and think life is over. My doctor told me I would not be able to have more kids, my cycle would not come back, but it's back. I had cancer two times and I'm still here. I feel great, look great, and I want to inspire, encourage and help others. I am a member of Sister Network Inc. in Greensboro; I attend support groups monthly and I know I can help my community. I want to teach, educate, and support women who think life is over. No, life begins!
